Declaration Of U. S. Air Policy Is Anticipated

Expect Symington To Outline Future U. S. Airpower Policy Today

TRANSPOLEAR FLIGHT CAUSES SPECULATION

By LEE VAN ATTA
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—W. Stuart Symington, assistant secretary of war for air, was expected to make a major declaration of future American military airpower policy today.

The statement was understood to set forth the air force's global surveillance policy in much the same manner as Navy Secretary Forrestal's declaration last week laid down U. S. naval plans.

Exact subject of Symington's declaration was not released by the war department, however.

In a memorandum to reporters, the department announced only that Symington would discuss "a very important subject." The "very important" was underlined.

To Clarify Situation

It was believed that a storm of speculation aroused by the pioneering transpolar flight of the "Pacusan Dreamboat" may have decided the civilian air forces leader to clarify the immediate outlook for the A.A.F.

However, it is also known that the army air forces have been weighing the feasibility of global maneuvers along lines similar to U. S. fleet maneuvers and it was believed Symington would clarify the point.

The air secretary was expected to give full and significant coverage on the following points:

1. Disposition of U. S. strategic bomber fleets throughout the world.
2. The air forces plan for global operations and bases to back up American foreign policy and to guarantee sound national defense.
3. Latest developments in the research section of the A.A.F.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Lamp posts that flank the two entrances to the public library now sport a new coat of blue-green paint. Pa New noted today.

According to weather bureau officials of this area, the present spell of summer weather is setting a new record for the first days of October, warmer than for any similar period in many years past.

New Castle Community Chest campaign is scheduled to get under way next Monday. The drive this year will be for a total of $80,800.

It is to be hoped that the long dry weather period will be broken with heavy rains before the fall hunting season gets under way. There would be great danger of forest fires under dry conditions that exist at present.

Saturday will be a holiday for persons employed in some lines of business. The day will be observed as Columbus Day.

Pa New hears that some areas are already making plans for Halloween parades this year. During the war years the last night of October revelry was eliminated.

United States weather statistics for the 24-hour period ending at 9 a. m. today follow:

Pleased with the enthusiastic reception he has received in the various districts he has visited so far in his swing around the state in the interests of his campaign for U. Royal Air Force Plane In Crash; Fear 21 Killed

SINGAPORE, Oct. 8.—(INS)—The crash of a Royal Air Force plane which plunged into the sea north of Penang, on the west coast of the Malay peninsula, was reported today to have taken a probable death toll of 21.

The plane, reported to have crashed Sunday, carried 15 service passengers and a crew of six. It was en route from Britain to Malaya.

Flying boats searched the area where the disaster occurred but found no sign of survivors.

Names Withheld

Authorities withheld the names of the passengers and crew until the next of kin can be notified.

It was later reported that RAF planes circling over the sea 100 miles west of Penang sighted objects believed to be passengers kept afloat by life preservers.

The fliers stated the objects were floating amid pieces of yellow wreckage believed to be rescue equipment.

Despite this, authorities held out no hope that anyone was left alive.

Soviets Protesting Novikov Incident

File Protest Over Reported Detention At Airport Of Returning Ambassador

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(INS)—The Soviet government today was revealed to have filed a protest with the State department over the reported detention of Ambassador Nikolai V. Novikov at La Guardia airport, New York City, last Friday.

The note was delivered to the department last night but officials would only confirm its delivery. They did not divulge its contents.

The Russian embassy was known to be much disturbed by the incident. It occurred when Novikov stepped from a transatlantic plane at the New York airport on his return from Moscow, where he went several weeks ago for consultation.

The envoy was reported to have been held for an hour and a half or more by customs officials. Ordinarily diplomats have immunity on all their baggage and are whisked through customs procedures.

An informed source said, however, that the delay in Novikov's return was due to some difficulties regarding his luggage.

LIGHT RAINS DUE

HARRISBURG, Oct. 8.—(INS)—Harrisburg area residents were warned by the weatherman to expect intermittent light rains tonight as an offshoot of the hurricane whipping up the eastern seaboard.

Temperatures today were expected to range between 50 and 82 degrees.

Democratic Leaders Hope For Action To Relieve Meat Famine

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(INS)—Democratic campaign leaders are counting today on an administrative "hat trick"—how to get more meat—to stem a Republican trend in the November elections.

At Democratic national headquarters there is a conviction that within the next few days the Truman administration will move to relieve the meat crisis.

Party strategists regard it as a "must" to offset what they view as the GOP's biggest single advantage.

Their belief that the administration will take definite action was supported in part by reports that

U. S. May Borrow Meat For Troops

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(INS)—The War department officially disclosed today that negotiations are under way to borrow 20 million pounds of beef from Great Britain for American troops in Europe and the Pacific.

The announcement said that this action is being taken "to provide meat to relieve the precarious food situation for troops in both the European and Pacific theaters and also to lessen the calls on the United States domestic meat sources."

The department said that procurement of the beef belonging to Great Britain is being discussed on a "loan basis." The United States is to repay the British pound for pound before February 28, 1947.

Airliner Crash Near Cheyenne; Several Killed

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 8.—(INS)—At least two persons were killed early today when a San Francisco to Chicago United Air Lines four-motored plane crashed one and one-half miles northwest of the Cheyenne airport.

UAL officials said the two killed apparently were passengers but their identities had not been established.

The plane carried 40 passengers listed and two infants. Neither of the babies was injured.

Plane Wrecked

Officials said most of the remaining 38 passengers and the crew of four were able to walk away from the crash. The plane, a DC-4 Mainliner, was demolished but there was no fire.

Three passengers were rushed to a Cheyenne hospital where their injuries were said to be serious.

The crash occurred at 4:32 a. m. MST as the air liner was approaching the airport for a routine landing.

The weather, UAL officials said, was above what they term minimum ceiling and visibility for flight operations.

President Plans No Campaign Trip

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(INS)—The White House said today that President Truman has only one trip scheduled during the present political campaign.

That trip, the White House said, will take him to Independence, Mo., his home, to vote on election day, Nov. 5.

Mr. Truman will leave Washington on Nov. 4 by plane for his Missouri home. It was indicated he will return to Washington immediately after election day.

Secretary Charles G. Ross said the president has no other plans for any trip between now and Nov. 15 when he will motor to the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., to spend a day with the Midshipmen and see the Navy team play Kansas State.

Well Guarded

Molotov's person was guarded by redoubled precautionary measures. All approaches to the presiding rostrum were placed under special guard when the Russian statesman took over.

But as a drawing card he proved a poor attraction. When he appeared there were scarcely 50 delegates seated and hardly a dozen persons in the spectator's gallery.

The Soviet spokesman opened the session in Luxembourg palace a moment after United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts, premier of South Africa, took their seats.

The early hour of the renewed session was considered the sole cause of tardiness by the delegates, but the entire representation of the eastern bloc of nations was present.

Former Secretary Hull Resting Well

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(INS)—An official bulletin from the hospital today said the former Secretary of State Cordell Hull "rested well last night."

The announcement indicated that the war time cabinet official was continuing his strong fight to regain his health. Hull suffered a cerebral hemorrhage last week and his condition was reported critical at that time.

Clark G. Snyder, president of the South Side Board of Trade, announced a meeting of the members for Wednesday evening, at eight o'clock, in the office of Alderman B. J. Blundi, on East Long avenue.

Power Strike At Pittsburgh Is Not Settled

Tienp In 15th Day—Latest Union Proposal Claimed To Have No New Offers

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 8.—(INS)—Hopes for settlement of Pittsburgh's power strike dimmed today when officials of the Duquesne Light Company rejected a second union proposal toward settlement of the 15-day-old walkout.

Light company officials said the new union offer was a re-submission of previous proposals.

Reshuffled Old Offer

Presley H. McCance, president of the light company, said that the union's strike committee had merely reshuffled their old offer to negotiate 11 major points and added a promise of arbitration of 25 others if they could not reach an agreement in 30 days.

McCance again urged the strikers, members of an independent company union, to submit the dispute to arbitration and end the paralyzing walkout.

At the same time Regional Director Frank M. Kleier of the national labor relations board disclosed that three unions have asked that their names be placed on ballots to determine the bargaining agents for a new union which was formed by a reported 700 men who bolted the union last week.

Three Seek Control

Kleier said the AFL District 50 of the United Mine Workers, the CIO Utility Workers, and the AFL Electrical Workers, are seeking control of the new organization.

Belgian Minister Deplores Split At Peace Conference

PARIS, Oct. 8.—(INS)—Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak today deplored the split between nations of the east and the west in Paris peace conference deliberations and declared that "international minded spirit" was necessary to the success of such parleys.

He said specifically that he hoped the delaying tactics and the bickering that occurred in drafting treaties with the five former European Axis satellites would not be repeated when the time comes for writing treaties with Germany proper and with Japan.

Spaak made the first speech of the day after he was called upon by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov who assumed the chair at a plenary session of the conference for the first time since the parley began.

Molotov's person was guarded by redoubled precautionary measures. All approaches to the presiding rostrum were placed under special guard when the Russian statesman took over.

But as a drawing card he proved a poor attraction. When he appeared there were scarcely 50 delegates seated and hardly a dozen persons in the spectator's gallery.

The Soviet spokesman opened the session in Luxembourg palace a moment after United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes and Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts, premier of South Africa, took their seats.

He had been arrested yesterday on his arrival from Nuernberg by German authorities who wanted to try him in Denazification courts.

Reuters also quoted an American News Service report from Frankfurt which said the minister of political liberation in Stuttgart announced Schacht will be tried before a "Denazification court."

International Air Mail Rates To Be Reduced

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(INS)—Postmaster General Robert E. Hannegan announced today drastic reductions in international air mail rates.

He disclosed that effective Nov. 1, American letter writers will be able to send air mail correspondence to any part of the world at a maximum cost of 25 cents per half-ounce.

Post office officials said the action will simplify and vastly expand foreign air mail rate structures overnight.

Sharpest reduction will come in air mailings to the Far East, slashed from a maximum of 70 cents to 25 cents a half-ounce. European rates will drop from 30 cents to 15 cents, and all South American airmail can be sent after Nov. 1 for a straight 10 cents, representing a cut from the present 15 and 20 cents.

The original bill presented by the state department was between $300,000 and $400,000, taking into consideration the original average cost of the two C-47 transports.

The Yugoslav government apologized for the incidents and gave assurances that measures would be taken to avoid similar occurrences in the near future.

Free Fireworks In Sky For Tonight Is Astronomers View

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 8.—(INS)—If you want to see a free fireworks display tonight just focus your eyes on the northern skies about 9:30 p. m.

Because astronomers believe one of the greatest array of shooting stars will fall at that time. They claim they'll fall as thick as snowflakes in a blizzard and probably even equal the skyshow of November 12, 1933.

If the stars fail to fall tonight, try again tomorrow night at about the same time. The skywatchers say the meteors may be delayed, or accelerated, if they pass another planet, or perhaps from other causes, so they do not always appear on schedule.

The expected skyshow is believed to be the debris from the Giacobini-Zinner comet, discovered in 1900.

WHITE HOUSE SILENT ON PALESTINE STATUS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(INS)—The White House today declined to comment on the status of any further communications between President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee regarding the Palestine situation.

Secretary Charles G. Ross was asked at his morning news conference whether the president had replied to a message from Attlee, Ross said.

"I'd rather not discuss that," he said.

Beef Industry Is Scheduled To Ask Lifting Of Controls

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(INS)—The beef industry today voted to petition Secretary of Agriculture Anderson for removal of price controls on cattle, calves, beef, and veal.

The action was taken by the industry's national OPA advisory committee.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(INS)—The beef industry was scheduled to petition Secretary of Agriculture Anderson today for removal of price controls on meat.

The National Beef Industry Advisory committee met in Washington as these developments arose in the meat situation.

Developments

1. Sen. Green (D-R. I.) urged that the government seize meat stocks "if packers and growers are striking against the public." He called for an investigation by Attorney General Tom Clark to determine whether there has been collusion among packers and cattlemen to hold beef off the market.

2. The War department announced today it is seeking twenty million pounds of beef from foreign sources by November delivery to meat-hungry GI's overseas. The British radio followed with a report that Britain will lend the U. S. Army the meat "within the next month." The loan would be repayable on demand, according to the report.

Seeking Way Out

3. President Truman said in an informal talk before field workers of the production marketing advisory office that the government is seeking a way out of the tight meat supply situation without raising the price control lid.

4. There were reports in some (Continued on Page Two)

Florida Escapes Heavy Damage In Latest Storm

Winds Diminishing As Hurricane Moves On Georgia And South Carolina

NO ESTIMATE YET OF CROP DAMAGE (BULLETIN)

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 8.—(INS)—Florida storm evacuees returned to their homes today as the first hurricane of the season moved out of the state, leaving little damage in its wake, and approached the Georgia and South Carolina coast.

The winds were diminishing as the hurricane passed close to Savannah and Charleston around 9:30 a. m. (EST), moving inland to the west.

The U. S. weather bureau stated that high tides would result from the 30 to 40 mile-winds sweeping the coast but that no danger was anticipated unless the hurricane bulges up anew.

Course Northward

Indications were that the course will remain northward, causing further loss of intensity. Gale winds near the storm center were expected to moderate today and tonight.

However, a warning was sounded for high tides and squally winds on the Georgia coast and north to Charleston, S. C. Strong winds may reach gale force as far north as Atlantic City. The weather bureau said.

Warnings will be lowered over South Florida as the winds subside. Leaving little known damage in its wake the storm swept northward in an unexpected change of direction.

The once-devastating winds lost their 100-mile-an-hour fury as they crossed the Florida west coast in the Tampa Bay area and moved diagonally across the state over the rich citrus belt of the central peninsula.

No Damage Estimate

No immediate estimate of damage to the record multi-million-dollar citrus crop was made.

The Miami weather bureau's 4:30 a. m. (EST) advisory said the storm, last located 40 miles west of Daytona Beach, would leave the eastern mainland between Jacksonville and St. Augustine during the morning.

Weather forecasters said winds of gale force are expected to extend as far north as Charleston, but that (Continued on Page Two)

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Oct. 8.—(INS)—A high school boy was dead today but his parents were recovering after flames from two gas heaters consumed the oxygen in their small, unventilated Norristown apartment.

The parents were revived at Montgomery County hospital.

These heady autumn mornings wake a fellow with the sun, and oftentimes they wake him ere his sleeping chore is done. But the sun climbs in the window and the air is like old wine, and you just can't help a-waking no difference how you're feeling, when the birds begin to cheep, that's the time to hit the carpet and forget about more sleep. But sometimes I wish the birdies and their mates would go away and let a fellow snooze a bit; it's 74 today.

Housemaid Faces Chair For Knife Slaying Of Woman

Negress Will Be Second Woman To Die In Electric Chair In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Oct. 8.—(INS)—Corrine Sykes, Philadelphia housemaid convicted of first degree murder, today was doomed to die in the electric chair next week unless granted a last-minute respite by Gov. Edward Martin.

Lt. Gov. John C. Bell, state pardons board chairman, announced late yesterday the agency had refused a rehearing for the 22-year-old negress and had dismissed her appeal for commutation.

Convicted of the fatal stabbing of Mrs. Freda Wodinger, of Philadelphia, on December 7, 1944, the Sykes woman was scheduled to be electrocuted the week of October 14.

Unless Governor Martin, who has granted four respites, authorizes an additional stay of execution, the woman will go to the electric chair early next Monday morning. Bell said the board, "after an exhaustive study of this case, has not found anything of sufficient merit to warrant a reargument or to justify a commutation of the death penalty to life imprisonment."

Should the defendant go to the chair she will be the second woman to be electrocuted in Pennsylvania since the lethal instrument was installed 21 years ago.

Irene Schroeder was electrocuted February 23, 1931, for the slaying of Cpl. Brady Paul, of the Highway Patrol, near New Castle. The blonde murderess was captured in Arizona after a nationwide search.

BEEF INDUSTRY IS SCHEDULED TO ASK LIFTING OF CONTROLS

quarters that OPA will order allocations of meat supplies at the packer's level.

5. Agriculture department officials expressed hope that U. S. exports now studying conditions in Mexico can recommend lifting of the ban on Mexican livestock imports.

The Beef Industry committee met in accordance with the revised price control act, to "consider" filing a petition with Anderson but definite action was a foregone conclusion.

Must Meet Conditions

To be eligible for decontrol, the industry must prove through surveys, records and other data it can provide that the supply of beef equals or exceeds requirements, according to the price and quality can be maintained at prewar levels.

The committee was expected to seek this by asserting that livestock production is sufficient for normal demand and that the only way production can be brought to market is through removal of controls. Emphasis also is expected to be placed on competition as an effective price restraint in a free market.

Secretary Anderson has on several occasions placed himself on record as firmly in favor of the present meat price control system.

Has 15 Days To Act

Anderson has 15 days to act on the industry petition. If he rejects it, the industry can ask a hearing which must be held within 10 days after it is requested. Anderson then had 15 days to announce his decision on the hearing. After this, the committee has 30 days to carry its appeal to the three-man price decontrol board, which has promised quick action once its gets the appeal.

Action could be speeded by Anderson refusing to act at all on the first petition. If he does not announce a decision within 15 days, the committee can appeal directly to the decontrol board.

GOVERNOR MARTIN AND PARTY MAKING HEADQUARTERS HERE

which the young veterans, returning from the last war, are beginning to take a serious interest in the affairs of their home communities, and state and national affairs. They are far more serious, the governor believes, than were the men from the Spanish-American war and World War I, both of which he has witnessed. They seem imbued with the idea of keeping America the land of opportunity, and are beginning to get really interested. They are going to be a tremendous voice in the affairs of the nation in a short time, the governor stated.

Headquarters Here

Governor Martin and his party, which includes Attorney General James H. Duff, Republican candidate for governor, Brig. Gen. Daniel B. Strickler, candidate for lieutenant governor, and William S. Livengood, candidate for secretary of internal affairs, will make New Castle their headquarters during the next two days, returning here tonight, and Wednesday, to spend the night here.

There will be no speaking at this afternoon's reception, the meeting having been arranged to give the voters of Lawrence county an opportunity of meeting the candidates who are carrying the Republican banner for the leading offices of the state at the coming election in November.

At Sharon At Noon

Governor Martin spoke at a luncheon meeting in the Sharon Elks club, at noon, when he praised the management of Mercer county's affairs, which have been largely in Republican hands for a number of years, the total bonded indebtedness of county, city, borough and school district, amounting to but little more than $400,000, or a per capita debt of $40. This is good management, the governor stated.

He compared this kind of good housekeeping with the huge Federal debt of more than 265 billions, or $2,000 for every man, woman and child in Mercer county, which is a lien on every property owner. This is what Democratic waste, extravagance and deficit financing have brought upon the American people.

Beaver Falls Tonight

Following the reception here, the party will go to Beaver Falls for a dinner meeting, when the governor will address the voters of Beaver county, returning to New Castle late in the evening.

Wednesday's itinerary includes a luncheon at the Franklin Hotel in Franklin, followed by a reception at Tionesta in Forest county later in the afternoon, and a meeting in Knox, Clarion county, at 4 o'clock. General Duff will speak over a state-wide hookup on the radio at 6:15 o'clock from Knox, and the day's activities will conclude with a rally in Butler, after which the party will again return to New Castle to spend the night.

He added: "Shortages just can't be understood by people who are unable to buy a shirt, a pair of shoes, or a beefsteak. It seems to me that Paul Porter's slogan is 'let 'em eat horsemeat'."

Hammering home this theme, Republican campaign leaders are employing this slogan on billboards, in newspaper advertisements and from sound trucks.

Feast Of Sukos Begins Wednesday

Sukos—Feast Of Tabernacles—Will Be Observed For Eight Days By Jewry

The Jewish Feast of Tabernacles or Sukos begins Wednesday, October 9, at sundown. Conservative and Orthodox Jews observe Friday also as a holy day.

Commemorating the exodus from Egypt when the Israelites were enjoined to build booths or tabernacles in the wilderness, the eight day holiday has a distinctively agricultural flavor. It is the festival of the autumn harvest, when in ancient times the Israelites brought the first autumn fruits of their fields to the Temple in Jerusalem to be consecrated. Traditionally the Feast of Tabernacles was the occasion for giving thanks to God for all growing things. As such it is the holiday of thanksgiving and on this festival God's goodness is extolled in special prayers. When the pilgrim fathers first proclaimed the holiday of Thanksgiving in America, they referred to the Jewish Feast of Tabernacles as their precedent in establishing our national holiday.

During the Feast of Tabernacles it is customary to bring a citron fruit, a palm branch, a sprig of myrtle and willow into the synagogue as evidence of God's beneficence in providing for the children of men. The traditional procession of the palms dates back to ancient times when the priests would make the circuit around the altar day of the festival.

The Feast of Tabernacles will be concluded on Wednesday, October 17, at sundown with the holiday of Shmini Atzeret. On this occasion the holiday of Sukos which began with Rosh Hashana will be brought to a conclusion by the reading of the last section of the Pentateuch and the reading of the first section of Genesis. This ceremony symbolizes Israel's devotion to the commandments of God. The conclusion of the reading of the Law has traditionally been the occasion for festivities and merry-making which gave a new character to the holiday.

In many synagogues today Shmini Atzeret is the occasion for the consecration of children about to begin their religious training. Conservative and Orthodox Jews observe an additional day, Shichas Torah, Rejoicing with the Law, on which day the ceremonial of the reading from the end and beginning of the Pentateuch is performed.

Services at Temple Israel are in charge of Dr. Iwan Gruen, leader of the congregation, will be Wednesday at 8 p. m., and he will speak on "The Tabernacle of Jewishness." Sukos night services will be observed. On Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock, Dr. Gruen will deliver another sermon.

Three Others Hurt In Crossing Crash

Occupants Of Car Hurled Against Moving Train Treated At Jameson Memorial Hospital

In addition to William Shaffer, three other persons were injured in the grade crossing accident near Hillsville, Monday morning, the report of the Jameson Memorial hospital reveals.

The accident occurred when a truck in the act of being parked, got out of control and crashed into an auto driven by William Shaffer, which in turn was knocked against a car driven by William Lease, aged 63 years, of Bethlehem, Pa., forcing it against a moving train on the NYC line. Other occupants of the NYC car were Mrs. Charlotte Lease, aged 58 years, and Mrs. Marion Gould, aged 38 years, also of Bethlehem.

Mr. Lease suffered a bruise of the left shoulder, Mrs. Lease a sprained ankle and contusion of the left thigh, and Mrs. Gould a contusion of the right hip and sacro-iliac sprain of the back. All were able to leave the hospital after treatment.

hurricane-force gusts probably would strike no farther than the Jacksonville area.

Moving at 25 to 30 miles an hour, the hurricane sped over Orlando, Lakeland and other portions of middle Florida with winds reaching as high as 70 miles per hour.

The gales whirled over large orchards of unharvested oranges and grapefruit, estimated to be the finest crop in several years and said to be valued at more than $150,000,000.

Tampa Bay Area Escapes

Strangely, the storm left practically no known damage in the Tampa Bay area, which had expected to be lashed by the wildest of the hurricane winds.

The state highway patrol in Tampa reported no damage except for a few felled telephone poles, believed to have been the result of a small twister within the storm.

Tampa and St. Petersburg reported their roads in good shape and tides not too abnormal.

Woman's Club Speaker At Luncheon, Edwin Steckel

For the opening fall luncheon program of the Woman's club at New Castle Country Club Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock, hostesses were club officers.

Mrs. J. Edward Everett, president, Mrs. Alvah M. Shumaker, first vice-president, Mrs. Glen Carpenter, second vice-president, Mrs. William Berkstresser, recording secretary, Mrs. Irvine Balph, corresponding secretary, Mrs. John Haven, treasurer, Miss Margaret Sankey, historian, and Mrs. Frank Woods, parliamentarian, formed a receiving line to greet the large attendance of members.

Places for 185 were set at long tables in the living room decorated down their length by fronds of evergreen and colorful nosegays of yellow and orange marigolds, zinnias, petunias, mums, and blue ageratum.

Edwin M. Steckel, musician and humorist, who is program director of Oglebay Institute in Wheeling, W. Va., was introduced as the speaker of the afternoon by Mrs. G. Wilfred Thomas.

Taking as his topic, "Music Is Fun," Mr. Steckel in an entertaining talk humorous to the point of hilarity illustrated his premise with anecdotes and bits of piano music.

He encourages those who "can't sing a note" or those who are allergic to symphonies to sing anyway for what music does to you and to be found even in symphonies.

People are going to take what they want in music, he said, you can't teach people what's good, he said.

said, "Music is yours to enjoy—it is yours to have fun with," he said in conclusion.

Invocation by Mrs. D. L. Ferguson opened the luncheon meeting. Mrs. Everett, who presided, extended a word of greeting to guests and in her opening remarks urged that the club become civic-minded, that members keep posted on national, state, and local legislation and express their views to the representatives concerned.

After luncheon an interesting program was presented, opened when 19 members answered roll call with a favorite quotation.

Mrs. W. H. Shipley acted as mistress of ceremonies and after a witty address announced the program.

Theme of the president's address, taken from DeWitt's poem, "Life and the Weaver," Dr. Dale Coulter Caldwell handled in an interesting manner, calling life a tapestry and following the weaver through his intricate work with his colored threads, each of which has a purpose of fulfillment.

An interesting report of the conference of the southwestern district conference of Pennsylvania Federation of Women's clubs was given by Miss Iretta Dart, aided by Mrs. Roy A. Long, Mrs. Roy Jamison and Mrs. E. L. Davenport, who were representatives from the club.

Mrs. Davenport spoke on "Gardens," with roses as the highlight. Mrs. R. L. Meermans read a clever original verse on the programs of the past year.

In her quaint style Mrs. Thomas Lindsay recited a group of varied readings, some serious and some humorous.

Another interesting feature was Mrs. H. C. Mitchell's travogue of her early spring trip to Florida, with an exhibit of articles from there.

Welcome State Sunday School Delegates

New Castle and Lawrence County are again privileged to be hosts to the Pennsylvania State Sunday School Association on the occasion of the 84th annual state convention of this great organization.

It is a gratification to the people of the city and county to be able to again offer the facilities and hospitality of the community to this annual assemblage of Sunday school workers.

Groundwork for the sessions has been well laid by the large number of local committees working for weeks under the general direction of Robert M. Strickler, Jr., Lawrence County Sunday School Association president, along with the leaders of the state organization.

With the great Scottish Rite Cathedral building and auditorium New Castle is peculiarly favored as a convention center, and in recent years the State Sunday School Association has most successfully carried out previous great conventions here.

There is every indication that this first big postwar convention of the state association will give an impetus to Sunday school work throughout the state that will be an inspiration to the thousands in Pennsylvania interested.

On behalf of New Castle and Lawrence County we deem it a privilege to welcome the State Sunday School Association leaders and workers to this city for the week's program.

Old Bones—Who's The Better Man?

Five hundred thousand years ago there lived a man in Java who doubtless was much like his fellows and in no way extraordinary, considering the times. He probably attracted no more than usual attention as he went about his business, or whatever it was that man did in those days. As was the custom, then and now, he died and like others since was soon forgotten.

In death this fellow has become somewhat of a personality. A half-million years afterward, his bones have been turned up by a curiosity-smitten descendant and now rest in the Museum of Natural History in New York. He is called the Java Giant Man, or Java No. 1, and the owner of his bones is a young Dutch paleontologist who came upon the find, partly in 1936 and partly in 1941. These bones are believed to constitute the remains of the earliest human being ever found.

The bones and other mementoes of the era, including a China giant man, are being studied by Dr. G. H. R. von Koenigswald and a colleague under a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation and the Viking Fund. Since he is a scientist, Dr. von Koenigswald, of course, is not saying "now" that he expects to find in his research, which some think may add a bit or two to the evolutionary meaning of man. "Give me at least a year," he asks, which seems only fair, considering how long Java No. 1 already has waited for the verdict of posterity.

Without the benefit of scientific research, it is safe to conjecture, however, that Java No. 1 could take care of himself as well as the next man, though there's no cause for modern man to go sinking off in self-conscious shame about his superiority in a physical way.

His day was the day of giant men, but this is the day of the giant nervous system. What ancient man, for instance, could stand the strain of the atom bomb, the bare meat counters, the illusion of prosperity amidst shortages, the World Series—all at one time?

Who's to say who's the better man?

Who Is The Keeper Of The Faith?

In taking up his new duties as secretary of commerce the newspapers report that Mr. W. Averell Harriman firmly endorsed the foreign policies now being carried out by Secretary Byrnes and stated that the secretary, representing President Truman, is carrying out the foreign policy built by the Roosevelt principles.

Not long ago former Secretary of Commerce Henry Wallace made a speech in New York in which he severely criticized the so-called Byrnes policies, declaring that they were an imperialist departure from the policies of the late President Roosevelt. Mr. Wallace advocated the appeasement of Soviet Russia, stating that this was the way to avoid war and to carry out the Roosevelt international principles. After the speech was made the late President's son, Jimmy Roosevelt, issued a statement endorsing Mr. Wallace's speech.

All of which might lead one to wonder just what were President Roosevelt's policies. Some leading Democrats, including Mr. Harriman, who was a personal friend of the late President, declare that the Byrnes policy is based on Rooseveltian principles. Mr. Wallace, who was even closer to Franklin D. Roosevelt in some ways than was Mr. Harriman, declares that the Byrnes policies are imperialist and that he (Mr. Wallace) and his friends hold the only simple, pure brand. Somebody must be mistaken. If Mr. Wallace is advocating the Roosevelt foreign policies then Mr. Byrnes evidently is not, and vice versa.

Of course, Mr. Roosevelt has gone to his reward and there are new conditions in the world, some of which he could not have foreseen. Therefore entirely new policies and remedies may be necessary for the international ills. But since the Democrats are seeking to base their campaign this year on the international legacy left by Mr. Roosevelt, then they ought at least, in the interest of clarity, make up their minds on what the policies really embraced and who now has the copyright on them. Was the policy one of Russian appeasement or did it envisage standing up for the rights of little peoples the world over? The Democrats ought to make up their minds about this.

Of course we don't want Italy to give us any reparations. It will be all we can do to furnish 'em with enough money to pay the Russians what they want.

You're Telling Me

By WILLIAM RITT
Central Press Writer

We read a rather horrible piece of news in the papers the other day. It said our Thanksgiving turkey has already been eaten!

Due to the meat shortage the nation's gobsbers have rushed in to fill the gap—the gap between the upper becsipids and the lower molars.

Turkey has been substituted in America's meat parlors for the vanished T-bone and the fuditive sirloin. But, alas, there is no true substitute for Uncle Sam's favorite bird!

Come Thursday, Nov. 28, we're going to miss the enchanting music of the drumsticks being gnawed free of their juicy goodness.

A ghastly vision rises before our eyes: Cranberries, sweet potatoes, mince pie—all there. And the piece de resistance? A soybean sandwich!

Dressing without turkey would be but a hollow mockery so we fear the succulent stuffing of yesterday will also be a minus item on the Thanksgiving menu.

One of the reasons, no doubt, the good Pilgrim fathers were so grateful on that first Thanksgiving Day was that they were living in the beautiful year of 1621 and not the sad and skimpy season of 1946.

Denmark Still Has 200,000 Nazi Refugees

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 8.—Trying to put together the jigsaw puzzle of Europe sometimes seems a hopeless task. The bits and pieces have been scattered so far and wide by the confusion of war.

You discover a stray bit here in this little country. A year and a half after the end of the European phase of the war, 200,000 German refugees are still quartered in Denmark. When they can be sent back, no one seems to know.

It costs the Danish government about one-third of the national budget to feed and house these people. More than 80 per cent of the refugees came from the Russian-occupied zone of Germany. They fled into Denmark in the early spring of 1945 as the victorious Soviet armies swept on toward Berlin.

They behaved like typical members of the master race, fondly driving the Danes from castles, schools and institutions that seemed to promise the most comfortable quarters. With the German surrender, the Danish government rounded up these unwelcome visitors and put them in carefully guarded camps. A small country with a pride of culture and tradition, the Danes were taking no chances of an infusion of aliens on such a scale.

Trying To Send Them Back

Ever since then, the government has been trying to send them back to their own land. Several months ago, Denmark's able Foreign Minister, Gustav Rasmussen, a career diplomat, talked with Stalin in Moscow. Among other things, he put up to him the problem of the refugee Germans out of the Russian zone.

Stalin said the Russians would take 100,000 in their zone on condition that the British and the Americans took the balance in their part of Germany. Rasmussen told me that he put his proposition up to the American and British commanders in early June. Up to the present, he has had no reply and the refugees will spend another winter as unwilling and unwanted guests.

One of the largest of 120 camps where these Germans are housed is near Copenhagen. In wooden barracks bought from Sweden, some 18,000 people live, most of them women and children.

They are largely of peasant stock, at least 80 per cent of them coming from the part of Germany that has been incorporated into Poland and the rest from the Russian zone. The contrast with the kind of concentration camps that the Nazis maintained for unwanted foreigners is an object lesson in decency.

The food they get equals about 2400 calories a day. Under the watchful eye of Danish guards they are allowed to choose their own section leaders, and the work of the camp is largely self-administered.

A library is provided. I saw children at work making marionettes for a marionette theater which is remarkably good. A chorus was being trained in part singing.

Danish director of the camp is Captain Harald Nielsen. Captain Nielsen was one of the first Danish underground leaders to be taken by the Gestapo. He spent nearly three years in a prison camp in Germany.

Marks of Suffering

On his face are the marks of what he endured. It is a strong face, a good face, in which there are compassion and understanding and great strength of character.

"I learned in Germany," he says, "how not to treat human beings. I hope that by giving these people humane treatment we will help to make them understand what humane means. But I am not too hopeful."

If they had stayed behind in East Prussia and Silesia, most of them would by now have been driven out into what is left of the German state. Many of them would be dead. But they understand only that they are confined in a foreign land, and their chief desire is to get back to a home that no longer exists.

This is one small example of what it means to have created out of Germany an abyss of confusion and uncertainty. So long as Germany the heart of industrial Europe, remains in a state of paralysis, so long will the reconstruction of the continent be delayed.

Without German coal and German iron and steel, it is hard to see how any substantial European recovery can ever come about. In internationalization of the Ruhr would be a step in the right direction. Administered by the western powers, either with or without Russia, the Ruhr could again begin to see Europe's desperate need.

But this would, of course, be only a step. So long as Russia and the western Allies face each other in hostility across a fixed line, there can be no solution of the German mess.

FRAIDY CAT

There is quite a difference between caution and fear. Sometimes a boy is called a fraidy cat when he is only cautious. He is wise enough not to stick his neck out when it is not necessary.

Some of the other fellows may be fool hardy instead of brave. A brave man may be scared half to death but that does not affect his bravery.

A frail little woman may seem to be pretty timid but she may fight like a wild cat when she needs to.

Sometimes it is wise to be cautious about exposing ones self to contagious disease.

It is better to keep away from persons who are sick even when there is no fear.

The Parent Problem

By GARY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

LEARN GROUP LIVING

More and more teachers are growing sensitive to children as persons. Here is an example of what I mean.

"Dear Dr. Myers: I am a first-grade teacher. Every year I have pupils who do not learn to work and play normally with other children, and who cry at every little thing both in the school room and on the playground. To be sure, these pupils do not win friends. What can I, as their teacher, do to help them?"

"I have read your column for years and have received much help and encouragement from it."

The Non-Social Child

My reply, in part, was as follows:

Every first-grade teacher faces the big problem you name, though she may not be as conscious of it as you are.

More and more of these non-social children are entering school, as there are more and more "only" children and children who are dependent on their parents physically and emotionally.

As a teacher, you can attack this problem from two angles—working directly with the child at school, and indirectly on him through his parents. Perhaps you could get into their hands a copy of my two bulletins, "Tot Learning To Be Social" and "Your Child and His Playmates," each to be had in a stamped envelope.

Try to prevail on his parents to let him wait on himself more at home, and to take more responsibility for following certain home regulations and doing certain jobs at home, without having to be reminded and bossed at every step.

Try, moreover, to persuade these parents to set the stage so the child will have normal play with other children of his age and also feel himself a worthy person and member of his family group. Of course, dealing with parents well is a great art. You must be persuasive. You must, therefore, try to sell them rather than just tell them these facts. Parents are persons, too, you see.

Re-Directing Habits

At school, the playground is the best place for you to study each child in his relation to other children, and to re-direct him in his play. Time you spend there is well spent, even if you must appear to neglect some work in the classroom.

You must have noticed that the child of whom you wrote may want to remain with you in the classroom when the other children go out to play. He may bid for your personal attention and want to help you. Unless he is ill, you should require him to join the other children.

During class periods this child may need to be curbed if he becomes a social nuisance to the other children, and gradually be guided to grow less selfish in his ways at work. More often than not, he may be the child never doing any wrong as a pupil, but very timid and self-conscious. He will gain more courage if you create a classroom atmosphere in which any child may feel fairly comfortable as he "re-directs."

To this end you will need to be very calm and patient as each child attempts to speak. You will need to guide your children to keep their hands down and be still while another child has the floor. Most of all, you will need to cultivate a classroom atmosphere in which no one will laugh at the blunders or mistakes of any child or get pleasure from his pains.

Herbert Hoover calls attention to the fact that Marshal Tito has a force of seven hundred fifty thousand men under arms out of a population of only fourteen million. These men, as Mr. Hoover says, ought to be working on farms and elsewhere, producing food and other commodities and repairing damages inflicted on the country by wars. Instead they merely fill the role of parasites on a poverty-stricken people. Ironically enough, it is our money which has armed and equipped Tito's big Army, and in all probability our eighty per cent of the UNRRA funds which now feeds them.

A natural and pertinent inquiry is, What does Yugoslavia need with an army of even hundred fifty thousand? Nobody is menacing the nation. Nobody is trying to take anything away from Yugoslavia. Certainly this huge force is not intended to be used against Russia, which sponsors Tito's government. The only logical "enemy" Yugoslavia can figure out consists of the United States and British troops which stand guard at the so-called Morgan Line to keep Tito from grabbing Trieste and Venice Giulia.

Under the program planned at the second peace conference in Paris, the Big Four ordered drastic reductions in the armed forces of Italy and other Axis satellite States. These powers are reduced practically to military impotence. It was suggested in this column at that time that this program gives Russia absolute and undisputed dominance over Europe, for the reason that her present satellites, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia, suffered no curbing of their armed forces.

Contrary, under Soviet influence, both have greatly increased armies and armament.

The folly of continuing our aid to Yugoslavia, either directly or through the UNRRA should have been apparent long ago. It ought to be made plain that no help is to be expected from this country so long as seven hundred fifty thousand men remain in arms instead of getting to work and doing something to rehabilitate their own nation.

Government regulations . . . some of them are really serious and some are more amusing than anything else . . . And even some that are amusing are serious. Those who make the regulations in many cases are as unfamiliar with the topic or item they are restricting as you are with the exact formula for the making of an atomic bomb. You can't help feel sorry and then you can't help but feel injustice has been done.

The latest regulation that struck our fancy concerns the dress industry . . . during the war years this same topic caused considerable comment . . . How far from the floor will the hem be? How many do-de-de will be permitted on the garment? Today they (govt. regulators) claim that the hem line cannot be lengthened. Regardless of necessity of covering up boney knees . . . But all restrictions are off when it comes to adding pockets . . . In other words one may use a patch five by five inches to make a pocket . . . or a yard by yard square to make a pocket . . . Trimmings are running wild . . . The way we see it, through non-trimming eyes of course, use all the material you want to make a dress but don't waste material making the hem an inch longer.

What happened to all the cuffs that were cut from the trousers of the gentlemen suits? No doubt there are hundreds and hundreds of pounds of small strips laying around right here in town . . . absolutely no use to anyone.

Some Benefits For Enlistment Still Hold Good

Although full benefits for education and dependency under the G. I. Bill of Rights have expired, there will still be some benefits for all applicants who enlist before the official termination of the war, CWO R. S. Thorn, local recruiting officer announced today.

All persons who enlist before the official end of the war will be entitled to dependency benefits until that date. Any person who enlists prior to the end of the war and who is discharged other than dishonorably after 90 or more days service is eligible for the following educational benefits under the GI Bill: One year's education plus one month's education for each month in the service prior to the official termination of the war. Tuition fees up to $500 per school year and subsistence allowances of $65 per month if single and $80 per month if he has dependents are paid. The 90 days service requirement does not apply to those discharged sooner for disabilities or injuries incurred while in actual service.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 8.—Pull up the anchors, boys. Delectable Lizabeth Scott is planning a real sea-going vacation. If Boss Hal Wallis agrees to her having a two months' vacation when she completes "Desert Town" two weeks hence, Liz wants to take a trip on a tramp freighter to the Bahamas. "That's my idea of getting a real rest, which I really need," the blonde charmer told your reporter, "you know how busy I've been. I'm all right when I'm busy in the daytime but I feel all dragged out by the time I get home."

When her vacation is over, she plans to be even busier. Besides making pictures, she is planning to study photography and French at Hollywood high's night school.

Many To Leave Town

Now that your reporter's vacation is over, it seems a lot of the people he likes to write about are planning to get out of town.

John Hodiak and his bride, Anne Baxter, get away on a real honeymoon trip November 1. They only last June and this time they're off had a few days after their marriage for Broadway.

Wants To Do Play

"I don't know yet whether the studio will let me do it. Joan explained, "under my present contract I have the right to do a play a year, but that contract expires December 1 and a new one begins."

"I have no such privilege under the new contract. I'd have to get permission to do a play. If the play is right for me, but the studio has other plans, naturally I'd be disappointed."

Joan Haver is flying to New York with her mother and sister October 19 when she finishes "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now" for 20th Century Fox. June's going to spend 10 days in New York seeing the shows and then she's going to visit her home town, Rock Island, Ill., for a couple of days. It's her first trip to New York in five years and her first back home since she became a star.

"You can't imagine how thrilled I am," June said.

Maureen O'Hara and her baby daughter fly to Dublin October 23 for the beautiful star's first visit home since she came to Hollywood seven years ago. She's just finishing "The Home Stretch." She plans to stay in Ireland six weeks unless Darryl Zanuck calls her back sooner to start "Chicken Every Sunday."

More Tires Seen By Akron Industry

AKRON, O., Oct. 8.—(INS)—The rubber industry in Akron offered encouraging news today to Ohio drivers needing new automobile tires.

Although the vital auto parts will continue scarce this fall, "it won't be long before tires are considerably easier to obtain," rubber officials declared.

Replacements already are being turned out at a rate half again as high as 1941 consumption and 175 per cent of normal prewar demand, Guy Dundaker Jr., field sales manager of the B. F. Goodrich company, made a "conservative estimate" that production of passenger-car tires for replacement sales alone, will run between 53 and 54 million units for 1946. He said the figure equaled two tires for every auto on the road now.

The official predicted that the tremendous demands would slack off as soon as the war-deferred orders are met.

NORRISTOWN.—Here's one business that is booming. During September, for the 10th consecutive month, the number of marriage licenses issued continued to increase. A total of 2,707 licenses were issued during the initial nine months of 1946.

What's Cooking, Joe—... BESIDES A RUPTURED DUCK?

Well, like the fellow said, "All I know is what I read in the papers." And it looks plenty tough for a vet on the face of it... PLENTY tough...

Witness the Record
1. Veterans Housing Program
2. Terminal Leave Pay Bill
3. Cars for Amputees

It is not a half-baked, stagnant, small-time concern. It is a national veterans organization which has jumped from 200 to over 75,000 members in only two years!

If you are an honorably discharged veteran of World War II (including Merchant Marine), you, too, can be an active part of this growing outfit.

This is what you've been waiting for. You can help us build a better America!

Naturally, we can't tell you our whole AVC story in this one ad. So do this, will you... clip the coupon, or make a note to get in touch with us. We'll be happy to answer all your questions about AVC... needless to say, without strings or malarkey.

But, Joe, it's not as bad as it seems! For there's a new star on the vet's horizon!

A little Giant...
Called the AVC!
This AVC—what's it like? Well...
It is not run by veterans of World War I.
It is strictly a World War II outfit.
It is not out for the veteran at the expense of the rest of the country.
It is out to get veterans the right to a decent home, a good job and a world of peace for their kids to grow up in.
It is not just a talk-up outfit—
It is the follow-through, get-it-done kind of organization.

PICCIRILLI De LISIO WEDDING IN CHURCH

A quiet wedding was solemnized in St. Lucy's church Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock when Miss Antonette Piccirilli, 619 North Cedar street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Biagio Piccirilli, 602 Highland avenue, Alliquippa, and Sam DeLisio, son of Mr. DeLisio, 507 West Clayton street.

In the presence of friends and relatives, vows were exchanged at 9:30 o'clock with Rev. Fr. Sebastian Ippolito officiating and using the double ring ceremony. Ferns and pink and white flowers embanked the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a satin brocade gown, sweetheart neckline, long sleeves, made to order. Her long veil fell from a heart-shaped crown of seed pearls, and she carried a white prayer book, marked with a white orchid.

Miss Louise Piccirilli, as her sister's maid of honor, wore a pink brocade gown, white accessories and carried a colonial bouquet of roses.

Domenick Leone served the bridegroom as best man.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Frank Marchionda, North Cedar street. At noon a wedding dinner was served at The Castleton for the immediate families. The couple departed early in the afternoon on a wedding trip to Milwaukee, Wis., and Chicago.

Upon their return they will reside on West Clayton street. Mr. DeLisio is an employee of the B. & O. railroad. Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. B. Piccirilli, Mr. and Mrs. Phillo Piccirilli of Alliquippa and Chris DeLisio of Conneville, Pa.

Vinson On Bench
As Supreme Court
Begins Sessions

Large Crowd Anticipates
Friction Between Justices
Jackson And Black

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(INS)—
The supreme court began a new term Monday in a brief but ceremonious session before an audience that filled the marble-pillared chamber to standing room only.

It was the first appearance on the bench of Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson. It was also the first joint appearance of the feuding justices—Hugo L. Black of Alabama and Robert H. Jackson, of New York.

The big crowd doubtless was present in anticipation of "something."
But the tense spectators were disappointed. The opening session of the 1946-47 term was as colorless as it was brief.

All of the justices were solemn-faced when they came through the curtained openings at the rear of their chairs, but Jackson and Black were no more solemn than the other seven jurists of the nation's highest court.

Vinson opened his tenure in high office with a tribute to the late Justice James C. McReynolds, who died during the summer recess on Aug.
24.

Action In Court
Vinson recalled that McReynolds had been an active member of the court for 27 years before his retirement in 1941 and added:

"He was a vigorous, capable, determined and forthright member.
His death brought to a close a distinguished career and a life of devotion to duty."

The court devoted the meeting to routine matters, including the admission of 40 attorneys to practice before the high bench.

The marble-pillared court room was packed, however, with visitors anxious to catch a glimpse of Justices Robert H. Jackson and Black meeting in public for the first time since Jackson had issued a statement criticizing Black.

As the court convened, spectators filled the aisles.
Jackson and Black filed in behind Vinson with the other members of the court and assumed their customary places. Black as the senior member of the bench sat at Vinson's right, and Jackson three seats away from the chief justice at his left.

DAVID H. LONG TO ATTEND CONVENTION

David H. Long of 311 East Falls street, will leave on October 13, for Chicago, to attend the convention of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance company of Newark, N. J., which will convene in that city
October 14 to 16.

Mr. Long, who has been with his company for the past 11 years, will participate in a round table discussion of corporation and tax problems during the convention.

The first automobile was equipped with pneumatic tires in 1892 by Pan-hard and Levaissor, French manufacturers.

HELD AS SUSPECT IN LOS ANGELES PATROLMAN'S DEATH

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—(INS)—Albert Anthony Adams, 27, of Easton, Pa., was held today by police as a suspect in the slaying of a highway patrolman in California.

Adams was captured by police and FBI agents when he dropped from a second floor window into a baby carriage and an indignant mother gave pursuit. He is wanted for questioning in the killing of Patrolman Steve Sodel near Los Angeles Sept. 24.

Police said Adams attempted suicide after his arrest by slashing his wrists with a safety razor. He was treated at police headquarters by surgeons and returned to a cell to await extradition proceedings.

Greatest Number
Of Students Now
At State College

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 3.—
(INS)—The 10,397 men and women, mostly veterans, enrolled at Pennsylvania State College, today formed the largest student body in its 91-year history.

President Ralph D. Hetzel said
the "freshman-less" campus at State college embraced 6876 students while the remainder were attending classes in 22 branch centers at cooperating colleges throughout the state.

He emphasized that veterans accounted for 55 per cent of the student registration at State college and approximately 85 per cent of the men students at 17 cooperating colleges. The student enrollment for the fall term at the Mt. Alto forestry school was 100 per cent
ex-servicemen, he added.

In addition to regularly-admitted students, Hetzel said, the college will have emergency credit centers at Lewisburg, Philipsburg, Bellefonte, State College, Somerset,
Sayre, Oil City and Shamokin.

Stranded British War Bride Given
Passage Money

OAKLYN, N. J., Oct. 8.—(INS)—
A stranded GI war bride was a little happier today.

Mrs. Mary Gibson, 21, will return to England soon with her two-year-old daughter—and a restored faith in human nature.

Mrs. Gibson came to this country with her child only to be turned away by the GI she married during the war—a Kentuckian who now lives in California.

She returned east to the home of a cousin—Mrs. R. C. Purdy—in Oaklyn—only to find that she lacked $50 of her passage back to England.

But George Crain—a sympathetic merchant marine captain now detained in Philadelphia by the maritime strike—came to her aid.

He presented Mrs. Gibson with two $100 bills.
The captain explained that his own family was lost in central Europe—the victim of the Nazi sweep in Rumania.

Republicans Lead
In Registration In Mercer County

MERCER, Oct. 8.—Republicans
still maintain their 3 to 2 registration ratio over the Democrats in Mercer county, approximate figures issued by the county registration and election office in Mercer today disclosed.

The total of 42,548 registered voters includes 25,291 Republicans, 16-851 Democrats and 406 registrants in other parties.

This is 2,274 more than the total registered when the May primary was held but it will be pared down some when "day to day" eliminations are taken into account, a spokesman for the office said. The total includes recent field registrations.

The final total will not be announced for several weeks.

Sell Equipment
To Penn Power

Electrical equipment at Deshon
annex, Cunningham park, was sold by city council at their meeting
Monday for $1,000. The Penn Power Co. got the equipment, being the only bidder. It will be operated as part of their system and the company will pay the expenses of going before the PUC for approval.

Playsite Building
Curbs Announced

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The government today banned the construction of swimming pools, boardwalks, roller-coasters, drive-in theaters, parking lots, cement tennis courts and walls and fences of wood, brick or concrete when any of these projects costs more than $200.

Prepares For Winter

Truckloads of cinders have been imported into the county every day for many weeks, in preparation for the ice and snow on winter roads, and the highway department will begin erecting snow fences after October 15.

According to highway superintendent Fred Martin, the department will probably have much more snow to handle this year than last,
because the snow fences are in bad condition in many places and won't be able to hold back the snow so well. New snow fences have not been available for several years.

U. S. May Hear Clemency Appeals Of Doomed Nazis

Gen. Clay Says Decision To Be Made Wednesday Concerning War Criminals

BERLIN, Oct. 8.—(INS)—Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay said Monday the Allied Control Council may act on the clemency appeals of the Nuernberg defendants at a meeting scheduled for Wednesday.

The deputy commander of the American occupation zone of Germany told newsmen that there also is a possibility that a special meeting will be called by the chairman to consider the appeals.

He expressed the opinion that the three acquitted defendants—Hjalmar Schacht, Franz von Papen and Hans Fritzsche—could be tried by the German courts for crimes against the people provided the charges did not constitute double jeopardy.

(Reuters reported from Nuernberg that the president of the denazification board announced proceedings have been instituted against Schacht, Von Papen and Fritzsche.)

General Clay added that he did believe that charging the three men with crimes against their co-nationals could be considered double jeopardy.

Even the defendants sentenced to jail terms, he added, could be tried by German courts on the expiration of their sentences—also provided the principle of double jeopardy was not violated.

Clay was unable to say whether there will be additional international trials of German war criminals but declared there would be "probably hundreds" of Germans tried by military government courts in the American zone.

He announced that several thousand interned Germans will be released as a result of the Nuernberg decision which acquitted the SA of charges of being a criminal organization.

Clay estimated the number of Germans now held in internment camps in the American zone at 77,000.

NEW CASTLE BOY OPENS STORE IN SOUTHERN TOWN

Leonard V. Battisone, former New Castle boy who spent several years in the ETO is now undertaking his first business venture by opening a Five and Dime store in Columbia, Louisiana.

The store, called "Lenny's", opened on September 28, with the Columbia paper pointing out that Battisone was the youngest business man in the town.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Battisone of 403 Shadyside, the young man is a graduate of New Castle High school, class of '37.

Jazz Enthusiast Ties Up Telephone While Home Burns

CLEARFIELD, Pa., Oct. 8.—(INS)—Here's a story of a modern Nero: the guy who fiddled while Rome burned.

Mr. and Mrs. Felix Siebenrock of suburban Mt. Joy, today blamed the fire loss of their $8000 home on a "lep cat" who played a recording on a party-line telephone while the Siebenrocks frantically tried to phone the fire department.

Eventually, Mrs. Siebenrock was forced to race to a neighbor's home a mile away and contact the fire department.

Clearfield firemen reported arriving at the scene too late to halt the blaze which was believed to have resulted from an exploding oil stove in the basement.

Mrs. Siebenrock said she tried to place a call with the fire department as soon as the fire was discovered, but all she could get on the 'phone was the "hot ticks" of some jazz orchestra.

Retired Dentist Dies In Butler County

BUTLER, Oct. 8.—Retired dentist, Dr. Frederick Vernon Waldron died suddenly at his home yesterday, in Slippery Rock, R. D. 5.

Dr. Waldron was a native of Butler county and practiced there for 37 years, retiring four years ago. Although he has been in failing health for several years his death came as a surprise.

He was born in Evans City, a son of the late William F. and Eliza Belle Waldron.

Lucky Union high school kids... and lucky teachers, too... they all had Monday off as a celebration for licking Bessmer for the first time in fourteen years... some of the faculty were later seen indulging in sun, air, and exercise on the golf course.

Discount Report Chinese Airplane Captured By Tribe

Say Report Unconfirmed U.S. Piloted Plane Captured By Wild Lolo Band

SHANGHAI, Oct. 8.—(INS)—The China National Airways said Monday there has been "absolutely no confirmation" of a Chungking report that 31 passengers and the American pilot of a Chinese transport had been captured by wild Lolo tribesmen in western China.

The Shanghai manager of the airlines said a report that the 31 passengers and the American pilot had engaged the Lolo in a gun battle was an "unconfirmed rumor" and that despite a search there is no evidence that the plane crashed in the Lolo occupied area.

The report that the plane had crashed and the occupants had been taken prisoners by the Lolo after a gun battle was circulated after the plane had been missing 16 days.

Meanwhile, a news blackout, reportedly ordered by General George C. Marshall, shrouded attempts to rescue five U. S. airmen reported enslaved by the Lolo tribesmen two years ago when their plane crashed.

Army officers said news was being withheld because it might upset delicate negotiations with the unpredictable nomads, who for centuries have bitterly opposed entrance of Chinese foreigners into their desolate mountainous region southwest of Chungking.

A second rescue plane piloted by Lieut. William Shanks of Montecello, Mo., left Shanghai Monday for the American base at Hsichang with supplies which will be parachuted to a rescue team penetrating the inhospitable Lolo country.

Slides On India To Be Shown At Church

Stereoscopic pictures of mission work in India will feature the second week night service of the annual missionary convention and Bible conference of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, 210 Pearson street, which is now in progress at the church.

Mrs. J. F. Brabazon of India will be the missionary speaker for the evening and will illustrate her address with the pictures which she took while working in that country.

Rev. D. C. Kopp, former missionary to Africa and now assistant district superintendent of the Alliance western Pennsylvania district, will follow the missionary greetings with an address on "The Second Coming of Christ".

In connection with the week's convalescent, afternoon services are being held daily with the exception of Saturday at 2 o'clock. A missionary and Bible address are heard at these services. The conference comes to a close next Sunday with three services.

Other workers appearing on the platform are Rev. Donald Ward of Palestine and Mrs. K. Roumen of Tibet.

Eugene Ormandy, Wife Separated

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—(INS)—Separation of Eugene Ormandy, conductor of the Philadelphia orchestra, and his wife, the former Stephanie Goldner, after 24 years of marriage was announced today.

Attorneys for the couple said the separation was by mutual consent. No legal action was contemplated "at this time". The Ormandys are childless.

Ormandy, who was elevated to the Philadelphia post in 1938, returned from a South American concert tour last month, but did not resume living with his wife, the announcement said.

Mrs. Ormandy, a native of Vienna, was harpist for the New York Philharmonic orchestra for 10 years before her marriage. Ormandy, born in Budapest, directed the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra before he was called to Philadelphia.

HARD WORK CURE FOR ALCOHOLICS

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 8.—(INS)—The Board of Prison Inspectors decided today that hard work is one cure for "pink elephants".

The board ruled that henceforth chronic drunks will be given fire-to-ten days in the Allegheny county workhouse.

Previously, the "lost week-enders" were allowed to sleep it off in the county jail.

TWIN-NOSED CALF

SOMERSET, O., Oct. 8.—(INS)—A twin-nosed calf born Friday September the 13th on the farm of Lawrence Hilmore near Somerset has been named, appropriately enough, Jinx.

The two noses are complete, each with two nostrils but the roof of the mouth is not perfectly formed. The calf reportedly looks more like a pug-nosed bull dog than a respectable young heifer.

Other Nazis Hate Goering

U. S. Prison Psychiatrist Says Admiral Raeder Only Condemned Nazi Suicide Possibility

Dr. Gustav Gilbert, U. S. prison psychiatrist at the Nuremberg jail who has made a daily study of the Nazi defendants throughout the war crimes trial, believes that the other Nazis hate Hermann Goering and that Grand Admiral Raeder is the only one who may try to commit suicide.

By DR. GUSTAV GILBERT
Written Especially for N. C. S.

NUERNBERG, Oct. 7.—(INS).—The only suicide candidate among the eighteen condemned Nazis, as far as I can tell, is Grand Admiral Erich Raeder, if his appeal for death before a firing squad instead of life imprisonment is refused as it must be.

Hermann Goering is the Nazis' gangster, a cheap showoff, gambling with other peoples' lives. This opinion is shared by his co-defendants who often laughed at the Allied press for being taken in by Hermann's showmanship.

Speer, Schacht, Von Papen and the generals hate him most for being a disgrace to the military-political tradition. Therefore his appeal to form a united front for defense failed. There is nothing great about him but the greatness of his crimes.

Terrorized Von Ribbentrop
Until the end, he terrorized Von Ribbentrop, who is a timid, broken man who refused to say things which might displease Goering.

Some of the other defendants ably the best specimen among the military. He is distressed only because he wants to be shot rather than hanged.

Raeder, old and sick, thinks death is better than life in prison and might try suicide if given an opportunity.

Punk is annoyed that Schacht was acquitted.

When Rudolf Hess was rambling along and was interrupted suddenly by Chief Justice Sir Geoffrey Lawrence, he spoke reasonably. It was his third genuine recovery since his flight to England. Hess always knows what he is doing but for periods of time he doesn't remember.

He said: "I am glad the court interrupted for suddenly I realized I was talking to a blank wall."

Hess has a hysterical personality, with a half-mysticism, half-persecution complex.

Price Control Will Be Shelved By New Congress Says Taft

DETROIT, Oct. 8.—(INS).—Senator Robert A. Taft, Ohio Republican, predicted Monday that federal price regulations will be shelved by Congress when it reconvenes in January.

He told a Detroit news conference that the meat famine will ease but that beef and pork will not become abundant until controls are removed.

Taft declared that the meat shortage and the inability of prospective home builders to get materials has brought a demand for an end of regulations. "And I expect the end to come soon after Congress meets again."

HARRISBURG, Oct. 8.—(INS).—Republican State Committee Headquarters announced today that a caravan composed of World War II veterans including Charles E. (Commando) Kelly, of Pittsburgh, would tour Pennsylvania on behalf of the GOP state.

Arrangements for the tour were being worked out by leaders of the Republican Veterans League and Young Republicans.

GOP Headquarters said Kelly, a former Democrat, will "speak on Americanism and good government."

DEATH TOLL TEN IN MARCUS HOOK REFINERY BLAZE

CHESTER, Pa., Oct. 8.—(INS).—The death of Joseph C. Tinsley, Sr., 64, of Linwood, today boosted to ten the total of fatalities in Thursday night's explosion and fire at the Sun Oil refinery in nearby Marcus Hook.

Tinsley succumbed to burns at Chester hospital. He is a native of Greensboro, Md., and will be buried there. The ninth victim—Vincent Keelan, 32, a Linwood fireman, died Sunday.

Nearly two hundred other persons were injured in the $300,000 blaze which swept a $13 million aviation gasoline unit at the refinery.

English Bride, Dream Shattered, Awaits Trip Home

OAKLYN, N. J., Oct. 8.—(INS).—A 21-year-old English war bride, her dreams of America shattered, was stranded in Oaklyn Monday, short of funds to take her back to Britain.

The attractive young bride, Mrs. May Gibson, and her pretty two-year-old daughter, Rosemary Ann, had a total wealth of $125, about $50 short of the cost of a third-class passage back home.

Mrs. Gibson told police that she came to the United States nine months ago to join her GI husband, a Kentuckian, but that no one met her when she landed in New York.

Traveling to Covington, Ky., she found that her groom had moved to Vallejo, Calif.

Undaunted, Mrs. Gibson said she boarded a train for the coast. There, she added, her husband made it plain that he wished she hadn't been so determined to find him.

Their marriage, he said, had been a mistake.

Mrs. Gibson then got a divorce headed back east, and ended up in Oaklyn with friends of her husband while waiting to sail.

She discovered, however, that she hadn't reckoned on the tax when figuring the cost of her passage home, and thus, until she raises $50, she's stranded.

China Not Ready To Be Democracy Says Canada Envoy

SHANGHAI, Oct. 8.—(INS).—Major Gen. Victor Odlum, Canadian envoy to China, told a news conference Monday that China is not yet ready for democracy.

At the same time Gen. Odlum warned that if China "becomes powerful in any other way she'll be a definite threat to world peace."

Gen. Odlum asserted: "China doesn't know what western democracy is, neither does she desire it. The Chinese people want to be left alone."

The Canadian envoy said that in the event of a third world war China undoubtedly would be a large contributing influence.

He supported the presence of United States troops in China, saying: "The United States assumed responsibility in China which neither Canada nor anyone else was prepared to assume."

Gen. Odlum said the prospect of amicable settlement of China's civil war was "very discouraging" because "there's been no true meeting of minds and hearts." He declined to amplify this statement.

GOOD LIGHT IS NEEDED FOR STUDY...

Even with the best of eyes we must have proper light in order to see well. Light and eyes are partners in the business of seeing. When both partners work in harmony, they achieve splendid results but if there isn't proper light, then vision will suffer. Don't gamble with vision—impress the children that when they sit down to study they must have at least a 100 watt bulb in a properly located lamp that diffuses the light and stops glare. Better light means better sight.

HOME WEDDING

"We are planning a semi-formal home wedding. At the ceremony at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, we anticipate having only the immediate families, who will remain for dinner as will the two bridesmaids, the maid-of-honor and the best man. We would like to have a small, informal evening reception, inviting a few friends. How can we word invitations and announcements? What should the groom and the best man wear? I shall wear a floor-length, white satin gown and finger-tip veil. My attendants will wear floor-length pastel dresses."

Answer: Send out reception invitations only, the difference being that formal invitations to the reception only state that Mr. and Mrs. John Smith "request the pleasure of your company at the wedding reception of their daughter, etc." instead of the usual "request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter."

You or your mother may, however, write, instead, short, informal notes inviting your friends to your reception only, inasmuch as yours will be informal. The usual formal, engraved announcements may be sent out, regardless of the informality of the wedding. These are mailed on the day of the wedding after the ceremony—never before the wedding. And they are worded in the usual form which any good stationer will be glad to show you. They are sent only to those not invited to the ceremony or to the reception.

To be correctly dressed, the groom, the best man and every other man in the wedding party should wear morning clothes (cut-away coat, striped trousers, etc.) inasmuch as you will dress as a bride and your attendants will wear formal afternoon dresses.

Question: I say this is correct: "Mary had drunk her second glass of milk. My husband says 'drank' is correct here. Which is?"

Answer: "Had drunk" is correct. They drink, they drank, they had drunk.

Dr. Lloyd C. Douglass' 'Last Book' Will Not Be Made Into Movie

By JULIAN HART
(N.S. Staff Correspondent)

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Oct. 8.—A little man named Dr. Lloyd C. Douglass, who looks even smaller with his head propped up on a couple of pillows and his slight frame covered with a warm woolen blanket, decreed today that his most monumental work as an author will never be made into a motion picture.

With a sense of humor and a joy of living as sparkling as the eyes behind his rimless glasses, this author of such notable literary triumphs as "Magnificent Obsession," "Green Light," and "The Robe" said that his publisher's contract for the still unfinished book, "The Big Fisherman"—not only will bar the volume from film presentation, but also from magazine, book club or condensed-version publication.

A sufferer of arthritis and well along in years, but with neither grumblings nor fretting in the face of either fact, Dr. Douglass picked his stiffening fingers together and told this reporter:

Likely Last Book

"This very likely will be my last full length book."

In that knowledge, Dr. Douglass seeks to remain for his work the full dignity which he feels his subject demands—for this story of Simon Peter presents the Christ as a living figure.

Dr. Douglass has no quarrel with the Hollywood handling of "The Robe" which is now being readied for production.

He said:

"The people who are writing the screen play, such as Director Mervyn LeRoy, have been kind enough to let me see the script, and I think they have done a good job. I couldn't do better, or as well, because that is a job I know nothing about."

In "The Robe" however, Christ is seen. In "The Big Fisherman" Christ is of full stature, and I simply do not think the motion picture can portray Christ, in the many closeups that would be necessary.

Restrict Use

Dr. Douglass, whose forthcoming picture will be a volume that having written such a volume, it is his right to withhold it from any medium which he believes might lessen or cheapen the majesty of his subject.

"The Big Fisherman" actually is only half finished, despite eighteen months of work, but will be a better book thereby. The former Canadian pastor explained:

"I wrote the first half of it, then put it on ice for six months."

Actually, during those months Dr. Douglass had flown to Hot Springs, Ark., and his secretary confided:

"It was a wonderful thing for him, to discover that he could leave Las Vegas and go anywhere he pleased. After Mrs. Douglass died he came here to live with his daughter and son-in-law, Betty and Weary Wilson, and seemed to believe he was here forever. The trip to Hot Springs convinced him he wasn't."

NORMA GURINI WEDS FRANK DAVELLI, JR.

At a simple but impressive candlelight home wedding Monday evening, at 6:30 o'clock, and in the presence of the immediate families, Miss Norma Gurini, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gurini, 1002 Rose avenue, became the bride of Frank Davelli, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davelli, of Williams street.

Baskets of white gladiolas and lighted ivory tapers, flanked the improvised altar on either side, with greenery entwined down the staircase. Soloists on the occasion were Eileen Moffatt, who sang, "Because," "I Love You Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. Charlotte Emery was the accompanist. Rev. J. Calvin Rose, pastor of Second U. P. church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a gown of satin and marquisette, fashioned with sweeping train. Her fingertip lace edged veil fell from a tiara of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses, centered with an orchid. For "something old" the bride wore a diamond lavalier of her mother's.

Miss Dorothy Cartwright as maid of honor wore a pink taffeta gown, trimmed with lace. She carried red roses and wore a matching flower headband.

Albert Davelli, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The wedding had a double significance, for it marked the 26th wedding anniversary of the bride's parents. A reception followed the ceremony, and lunch was served buffet style. A large wedding cake centered the table. Mrs. Lillian Staffa, Mrs. Bonnie Pelini, Mrs. Josephine Cambro and Mrs. Florence DeLeonie, aunts of the bride, poured.

The couple departed on a wedding trip to New York City, traveling by airplane. Upon their return they will reside on Rose avenue.

Both are graduates of New Castle high school. The bride is employed in the trade department of the Bell Telephone. Mr. Davelli is a discharged veteran of three years service, attending Youngstown college.

EDUCATION BOARD MEETS

The weekly religious education board met Sunday afternoon in the Grace Bible church. Rev. Edward Shaffer opened the meeting with prayer. President Charles Young called the meeting to order and means of increasing the budget. The total budget which amounts to $450 yearly is divided equally among the Grace Bible church, Savannah M. E. Harmony Baptist, Greenwood, Center, and the Castledown Christian and Missionary Alliance. The teacher, Mrs. Frank Frew, stated in her report that there are a total of 542 students, averaging 34 students to a class, with classes numbering 13. This number has doubled itself in a year.

The board decided to give Mrs. Frew permission to have one Sunday out of the year at each of the six churches to tell of her work and its progress. The meeting was adjourned by the new minister of Savannah church, Rev. J. Norman Holder.

Cascade Park Is Colorful These Days

Lovers of the outdoors these days are drinking in the rare beauties that mother nature is portraying just for them. The month of October each year, gives nature lovers an opportunity to drink to their fill the unsurpassed scenes that can never be duplicated on canvas or photographs.

Nature lovers from New Castle and Lawrence County have traveled mile upon mile to let out the beauties of our majestic country, but have failed to notice the scenic wonders that mother nature has placed in their own back yard, especially in and around Cascade Park.

The park, right now, is conspicuously quiet, with its scene of humans with the exception of a caretaker or two, and congenial park superintendent, Chris Coulthard, who is always there, when it comes to any question about Cascade Park.

Picturesque Scene

With the colorful leaves of the stately oaks and other trees twirling to the ground and the flitting up and down of the massive tree trunks of the Park's winter inhabitants, quite a picturesque scene was produced, during a recent visit of an inquiring News reporter, whose desire it was to see Nature in its finest outdoor dress.

Entering the park midway, at the lower gate, it was noted that all the main made amusements were boarded up for the winter months, presenting a scene of desolation, but moving on a little farther to the edge of the large gorge that encircles the Park, a wonderful scene was witnessed. No longer does the gorge reverberate with the sound of happy young people, as it once did when the old scenic railway, operated by Billy Glenn, stood there. Sounds of the rushing water as it fell over the mouth of the large cave that had been hollowed out by the wind, rain and snow, were the only sounds that came forth from the scenic gorge.

The only unnatural thing about the deep ravine was the large pillars that formerly topped up the railway that once wound around the gorge, otherwise, the view afforded was exactly as nature had painted it, with everything in place.

Falling Tree Aids Display

One of the aged trees that had been growing in the Park for the past 50 or 60 years, decided its usefulness had come to an end and fell across one of Mr. Coulthard's shelters that had been erected, so that Park visitors could get a better view of the scenic wonderland. Workmen were busily removing the old tree trunk and its branches so that the shelter could be re-erected.

Outstanding in the scene viewed by the reporter were the natural stone steps that were found on all sides of the approach to the gorge. The park formerly was wind and rain through the years have made natural stone steps which gives the visitor a better chance to scan the beautiful scene.

It is anticipated that the park's large lake will soon be filled again, maybe for ice skating later in the year. Plans have been approved for the repairing of the dam that was washed out, but it is not known when work will begin.

Black Market Operators Are Paying Old Taxes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(INS)—Secretary of Treasury John W. Snyder disclosed today that the government's drive against black market operators is bringing a flood of voluntary payments and declarations of additional taxes.

Snyder told a meeting of key internal revenue field officers that the voluntary disclosures show that "a compelling fear is being sown in the minds of promulgators of shady returns."

The secretary pledged his "wholehearted support" in the internal revenue bureau's drive to collect prompt payments of taxes.

Snyder declared, has stimulated the collection of previously unreported tax money.

Deny U. S. Supplies A-Bombs To Britain

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(INS)—Secretary of War Patterson today denied published reports that the United States is supplying atom bombs to Great Britain.

The war department made public this formal statement by Patterson: "In response to queries to the war department, the secretary of war announced that there is no truth whatsoever in the stories that the United States has shipped or is shipping atomic bombs to Great Britain."

Report Signs Point To GOP Victory In State In November

HARRISBURG, Oct. 8.—(INS)—During the month leading up to the general election November 5, scores of nationally-known political columnists and feature writers will be coming into Pennsylvania to evaluate the fall campaign. Although many of the top-flight political writers have written stories, based on reports from observers in the commonwealth, it was expected that a large number of famous columnists would come to the Keystone State for a first-hand report on the political situation. Pennsylvania has become a proving ground for what were expected to be major campaign tactics during the Presidential drive in 1948.

All signs currently point to a Republican victory November 5. Several former Democratic legislators visiting the state capital frankly admit their party will be defeated. The question was: "What will the margin be?" Supremely confident G. O. P. chiefs believe the plurality for the Martin-Duff slate will run around 250,000 votes while conservatives place the margin at 150,000. Should the Guffey-Rice slate win, it would be the second time in 56 years that Democrats carried the state for governor.

Democrats who concede defeat have various reasons but so far the most plausible has been that "the fire went out of the party" when President Roosevelt died. They do not view Henry A. Wallace as a man to fill the late President's political niche.

The late MR. JAY-WALKER

He just couldn't wait for the green light of safety. Anyway he'd done it many times before, so he dashed through traffic and straight into the obituary column.

The tragic part of it is that he is only one of 9,900 pedestrians who were killed in highway traffic accidents throughout the nation last year. In your own State of Pennsylvania 1380 people lost their lives from auto accidents last year. Of these 673, or 48.9% of the total were pedestrians.

Never assume that car drivers will be concerned about your safety. Make it your personal responsibility—and live longer.

Cross at clearly defined crosswalks. Look both ways. Do not cross in the middle of a block, or against traffic signals. Never walk on the highway when sidewalks are available. If you must, then always walk facing traffic. Keep off highways if intoxicated.

Don't become "the late Mr. Jay-Walker".

Mrs. Klammer had asked if there was something else they wanted, and the lady answered "anything that gives you pleasure"; she would like a little coffee and some preserves.

Baruch Given Ickes' Support

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Oct. 3.—(INS)—Harold L. Ickes, that self-styled "old curmudgeon" of the Roosevelt New Deal, was back pitching in the international arena today, this time in defense of Bernard M. Baruch as against former Agriculture Secretary Henry A. Wallace on the question of atomic bomb control.

Ickes let it be known he was "pretty damn sore" about the action of the independent citizens' committee of the arts, sciences and professions, of which he is executive chairman, in criticizing the Baruch plan for atomic energy control, and in supporting Wallace, who favors the Russia formula.

Whether Ickes will resign his chairmanship of the political body remained to be seen. He made it plain, however, that he cared not a bit for the independent citizens' committee stand, nor that either of the CIO political action committee, both of whom assailed Baruch at a recent Chicago convention of liberals, and endorsed the Wallace viewpoint.

STRIKE HAMPERS

"DELOUSING" OF JAIL OCCUPANTS

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 8.—(INS)—The fastidious clientele in the Allegheny county jail are quite perturbed today.

The power strike, which cut off the city's central heating system, has presented the matre at the local inn with quite a problem.

Without heat, the matre, sometimes called a warden, told the Board of Prison Inspectors, it is impossible for prison authorities to "delouse" the new and not so fastidious guests.

And, the warden warned the lice colony threatens to multiply.

The inspectors approved a plan whereby an instantaneous water heater may be produced for the prison—if possible.

Dr. Galbreath To Speak At Chest Opening Meeting

Dr. R. W. Galbreath, retired president of Westminster college, will be the principal speaker at the New Castle Community chest opening dinner on October 14. It was announced today.

Educator, minister, and a speaker of note, Dr. Galbreath is an admirable choice to give inspiration to the three hundred workers who will form the chest solicitation army. He retired last June as president of Westminster and has since become a real dirt farmer, operating a farm near Pulaski. He is also acting as supply minister at the First Presbyterian church pending the selection of a successor to the late Dr. J. J. McVane.

The program at the kickoff dinner will be brief. Most of the materials will be distributed to workers before the dinner and the program is designed principally to give the workers final instructions and inspiration for the drive. The entire expense of the dinner is being paid by a local friend of the Community Chest and, hence, will not come out of campaign funds.

REPORT GOERING RIPS WIFE'S PHOTO

LONDON, Oct. 8.—(INS)—Reuters reported Monday from Nuernberg that Hermann Goering in a fit of depression in his cell of the condemned tower up the picture of his wife, Emmy.

The dispatch quoted an official of the Palace of Justice prison as saying, "Goering was sorting a large pile of personal papers and photographs and came across a picture of his wife."

He looked at it fondly for a moment and then, with a look of anguish in his eyes, tore it into little pieces and dumped them into a wastepaper basket with a sigh.

PIN-WORMS NOW CAN BE BEATEN

The mysteries of Pin-Worms have been known for centuries, and millions of victims have sought a way to deal with this pest that lives inside the human body.

Today, thanks to a special, medically recognized drug, a highly effective treatment has been made possible. This drug is the vital ingredient in P-W, the Pin-Worm tablets developed in the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son.

The small, easy-to-take P-W tablets act in a special way to remove Pin-Worms. So don't suffer with the embarrassing rectal itch caused by this ugly pest. Ask your druggist for JAYNE'S P-W and follow the directions.

P-W means Pin-Worm relief!

IF THE DOCTOR IS NEEDED, BE CONSIDERATE

1. Do not call the doctor at night except in an emergency.
2. Be on time for all appointments.
3. If you must break an appointment, give ample notice.

FARM SAFETY DEMANDS PREVENTION OF FIRES

One of the greatest farm dangers is fire.

Through fire you can lose, overnight, the profit of years of labor; in an hour you can find yourself financially ruined. Take every precaution to guard against fire.

It is estimated that the 1945 national farm fire loss was about $90,000,000. More appalling than the economic loss are the thousands of farm residents who needlessly die or suffer permanent disability in farm fires each year.

Lawrence County farm people will co-operate in National Fire Prevention Week, October 6 to 12, by eliminating fire hazards.

In the dwelling—Provide fire-resistant roof, or chimney spark arrester. Provide metal containers for ashes. Clean rubbish from attic, basement, and closet. Store matches out of reach of children. Avoid use of gasoline or kerosene in starting fires. Provide for all dry cleaning to be done outdoors.

On the farmstead—Equip principal buildings with lightning rods. Check ground connections if already provided with rods. Discard or repair all frayed electric extension cords and connections. Store farm supply of gasoline under ground or at least 75 feet from other buildings. Clean out leaves, weeds, grass or rubbish under or near buildings.

In the barn—Inspect haymows frequently for signs of spontaneous heating. Prohibit smoking in or near barns. Provide grounding for metal roof, siding or hay tracks. Avoid storage of tractors, trucks and automobiles in barns; special sheds are safer. Place straw and hay stacks a safe distance from barns.

CONNELLSVILLE.—State police have arrested two "phantom robbers" who had been robbing couples "necking" in parked cars near Connelville. The men tried to rob one car but found that it was occupied by troopers.

New Secretary Of Commerce Presents Ideas

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—(INS)—W. Averell Harriman took over the post of secretary of commerce Monday afternoon with a declaration that "more and steady" industrial production is the keystone of United States prosperity and the peace of the world.

Four hours after he was sworn into office as successor to Henry A. Wallace, the new cabinet member issued a statement asserting that the world's millions are looking to this country for leadership "in solving the economic as well as the political problems that face us all."

The brief statement did not touch upon foreign policy but confined itself to the need for an all-out national effort to overcome the "grave problems" in reconstruction from war to peace. It said:

"Stable and rising production is the only way to maintain a high level of employment as well as to have available more goods for the security and better life of everyone."

'Snow White' To Be Presented On Cathedral Stage

Operetta Adaptation Of Famous Story Labeled Brilliant Show By Critics

First a story, then a film, now a brilliant operetta, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," the fantasy that has thrilled young and old, will be presented on the Cathedral auditorium stage Saturday afternoon and evening, October 19.

The production will be brought to the city by the Perry S. Gaston post of the American Legion, and all proceeds from the show will be used for the benefit of the Legion band.

A New York cast of singing and dancing artists have taken the original Grimm fairy tale and built it into one of the most engaging operettas of all time, and an evening of delightful entertainment is predicted.

The cast will come to the city complete with elaborate settings, vivid costumes and their own orchestra. Nothing has been overlooked, down to the smallest detail, to make this famous story into a fine singing and dancing performance. Even the little cottage of the Seven Dwarfs is in miniature, equipped with colorful furniture, dishes, spoons, etc., made to size for the little people.

The production has been in the making for over a year. It is youthful, refreshing, and sweet enough to make oldsters forget their age and give a spiritual tonic to children that is unsurpassable.

Bus Service To Be Extended

City 'Rents' Lot So Buses Can Run To City Line And Harlansburg Highway

When the Public Utilities commission grants sanction to the S. V. T. company to extend bus service from its present terminal at Cascade street and Croton, buses will run to the top of Croton avenue hill where the avenue meets the Hickory township line on route 103.

This was indicated Monday when, in council meeting, colleagues authorized Property Director Joseph D. Alexander to sign a lease with a property owner at the top of the hill for about 75 feet of ground on which the buses may run.

The city will pay the taxes on the small part.

The transportation company will file an application with the PUC for the extended bus service. It was stated today. However, service cannot be started until approval is given.

Lines Too Small And Old; Matthews Tells Councilmen

J. Lepere Matthews, manager of the local water company, in response to petitions from Winlaw district which complained that the water pressure was low, apparently satisfied council with his explanation Monday and added that "next year the company will spend approximately $21,000 for improvements in that section."

present difficulty is double, or lies both with the company and also the property-owners.

He said that the service lines from the main to the curb are half inch and asserted that the service lines in homes are old and need replacement.

Mr. Matthews pointed out that improvements already have been made in some streets.

Council apparently was satisfied with his explanation and notified the city clerk to advise the complainants of Mr. Matthews' explanation.

Made in an experimental laboratory, the record underwater dive is 500 feet.

Union High Given Holiday For Victory

Students of Union high school enjoyed a one day vacation Monday when Principal J. Arthur Tuck dismissed school, declaring Union high's football victory over Bessemer high on Friday afternoon warranted a holiday. Teachers as well as students had the day off.

Jim Smith, the player who made the winning touchdown, was the most popular student in the township. His score broke a victory jinx that Bessemer had held over Union for 14 years.
